Difficulties of the Sheepmen - Lack Of Range Creates Alarm.

Vernal, Uintah Co., June 21 .- A petiion was drawn up this week and signed by all the sheep owners asking re-hef from the department of the interior. Plainly speaking the sheep owners of this county are in a tight place, and are in about the same fix the cattle owners have been for several years-no where to go. With Colorado on the east; bad lands on the south; the reseration on the west and the Uintah for cat reserve on the north which they can not enter until July 1 and then only 24,000 head when they have over 60,000, the situation is becoming serious. The sheep are now being held along the rim of the mountain and unless they are allowed to go upon the re-zerve there will be a heavy loss from lack of feed. It is an outrage to exclude nearly two-thirds of Uintah county's sheep from the reserve that have always been ranging there and allow sheep to come from other countles of the state, but such is the case. The owners of flocks are nowasking permission to range their sheep on the re-serve until they are fit for market. Some promise to market them and go out of the business entirely, and others to reduce them to 2,000 head before an-
